NEW EXTENSION WORK PROGRESSES

On the Western Maryland Between Cumberland and Connellsburg

IS INTERESTINGLY TOLD.

Baltimore Industrial Publication Sends Staff Correspondent Over the Route and His Observations Are of Interest Locally.

The current issue of the Manufacturer's Record of Baltimore published an interesting story of the progress and route of the Western Maryland railroad between Cumberland and Connellsburg. The story is by a staff correspondent who recently made a trip over the route. It is as follows:

Not since the building of either the Clinchfield railroad or the Virginia railway has there been undertaken such an important piece of railroad construction through the eastern mountains as that which the Western Maryland now has in progress between Cumberland and Connellsburg. Its completion, which is expected in the autumn of 1911, will mean the establishment of a new trunk line between the East and the West, something which has been sought for more than 20 years, when the South Penn project was undertaken, vigorously pushed for a while and finally abandoned. Then the Western Maryland will provide, at least for freight service, what the South Penn aimed at, namely, a new competing line between New York and Pittsburgh, one that is 31 miles shorter than the Baltimore & Ohio between the same points, and having a maximum grade of 42 feet per mile against eastbound traffic. Construction, as heretofore announced, will be made at Connellsburg with the New York Central system for Pittsburgh and Chicago, as well as for intermediate points.

Although contracts for the building of the 87 miles necessary to the completion of this new route were let about June 1 of this year, and actual work began only about July 1, already more than one-fifth of the grading and masonry has been completed. The beginning of the construction is less than a mile and a half out of Cumberland, or at the head of the Narrows of Little creek. Through the Narrows, which is a gap in the mountains, lies the only route from Cumberland to Pittsburgh. To get through this difficult the Western Maryland some time ago purchased the George's Creek & Cumberland railroad, with which the new line will connect at the head of the Narrows, using its tracks in and out of Cumberland. In this gorge are two other railroads, namely, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Cumberland & Pennsylvania, which lie to the north of the creek, while on the other side the National turnpike and the George's Creek railroad run side by side. The mountains on either hand are masses of rock, hardly any soil being visible upon their cliff-like sides, and the building of an entirely new route through the pass would have been impracticable; therefore, the George's Creek road was most essential in the Western Maryland extension plans.

For its entire length the route of the new extension lies through mountainous country. It starts to climb at the very beginning, but following the water courses in a general way, crossing hollows and ridges, occasionally tunnelling a spur, making loop here and there, all the time rising toward the chief obstacle in its way, the backbone of the Alleghenies. Leaving the vicinity of Cumberland, the new route quickly breaks away from the other two railroads mentioned, swinging to the westward in Maryland territory and thus crossing literally the mouth of a horseshoe loop which the Baltimore & Ohio forms by its line from Cumberland via Hyndman, Pa., through the Sand Patch tunnel, just beyond which latter point the Western Maryland again meets its line, which is practically paralleled from there to Connellsburg. In its journey to this meeting point the Western Maryland traverses from Cumberland, 27 miles of the, while the Baltimore & Ohio with its more circuitous route, goes over 35 miles. On its way the Western Maryland proceeds through a most beautiful mountain region, now and then opening up extensive panoramas of peaks and valleys, miles in extent and passing through or near, as the case may be, Barrellville, Mt. Savage, Frostburg and other mountain towns, all the time rising to reach the spine of the main ridge of the Alleghenies, which at the point where it is pierced is known as big Savage Mountain, whose summit is 3,900 or more feet above tide-water, and which is crossed not far north of the tunnel at an elevation of about 2,500 feet by a wagon road that leads to Meyersdale.

Interest particularly centers in the first 20 or 25 miles of the extension, because this part of the route lies through the most difficult country and

JUST AS HELP COMES WOMAN FAINTS AND FALLS TO DEATH IN FLAMES.

Rescuer Mounts Ladder as Miss Williams Climbs Out of Window, but Reaction Causes Her to Lose Balance and Collapse to Fiery Death Within.

United Press Telegram.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 28.—Falling and falling back into the flames the moment help reached her, forgetting Miss Williams was asleep.

The fire had made considerable headway when neighbors who had summoned raised a ladder to the window just as Miss Williams was completely destroyed by fire.

The charred body of the victim was not recovered until shortly before noon. Mrs. Murray, fearing to be alone, invited Miss Williams and a friend to spend the night at her home.

One of the rescuers mounted the ladder but just as he was about to grasp the young woman, she fainted and fell backwards into the burning building.

necessitates the construction of a tunnel 3,300 feet, or considerably more than half a mile, long through Big Savage Mountain and at an elevation of 2,340 feet. This tunnel, by the way, will go through solid rock for the entire distance, but the tunnel men are working so rapidly that it is expected the two headings will meet and the entire work will be completed, with the exception of concrete lining and tracklaying, in about six months. The first 21 miles out of Cumberland will be double-tracked immediately, but all tunnels and bridges on the entire line, with the exception of the big tunnel, will be made wide enough for two tracks should it be decided to make the road a double track at any time in the future. The double-tracking of the big tunnel is not essential. All bridges are of steel and concrete, and all the tunnels will be lined with concrete.

To appreciate properly the difficulties which are being met and successfully overcome one should take a trip over this part of the route in an automobile. Starting out of Cumberland, the head of the Narrows is reached in a few minutes. From its connection with the George's Creek & Cumberland railroad at this point the extension begins with a concrete and steel bridge of two 150-foot spans, crossing Bradcock run, and the Eckhart branch of the Cumberland & Pennsylvania railroad, also the National pike and the street car line to Frostburg. This bridge contains about 6,000 cubic yards of concrete masonry, and the spans are of the through-truss type. Immediately beyond it is a 55-foot fill and a 25-foot concrete cut-over over the country road. A little distance beyond, after traversing rolling country on Mile 1, a 95-ton Bucyrus steam shovel is at work going through a rock and earth cut. This shovel is served by three 20-ton locomotives and a number of four-yard dump cars. Ordinarily this big shovel, which is one of the several very heavy ones on the work, uses a four-yard dipper, so that one dipperful of earth, but on this particular piece of work, owing to the presence of considerable rock, a two and one-half-yard dipper is employed. Near the end of the mile the route turns into Cash

CUP DEFENDERS ARE NAMED TODAY.

Aviators Who Didn't Land on the Team are Sorry at Committee.

SAY BEST MEN NOT PICKED

Adverse Weather Prevented Elimination Trials—Brookins, Drexel, and Hamilton the Three Yankee Flyers Selected.

United Press Telegram.

BELMONT-PARK, L. I., Oct. 28.—The American defenders of the Gordon Bennett trophy in the Coupe Internationale d'Aviation was announced today after a session of several hours by the executive committee of the Aero Club of America. They are: Walter Brooks, (Wright '50 H. P.); Armstrong Drexel, (Bleriot '50 H. P.); Charles K. Hamilton (Hamilton 110 H. P.); Substitutes: Molson, (Bleriot '50); Hoxsey, (Wright '50); Marx, (Curtiss '50).

According to the rules the teams must be announced 24 hours before the race. The event is scheduled for tomorrow so it was necessary to select the teams without elimination trials. The trials were prevented by adverse weather. The race will be 20 laps of a five-kilometer course, a total of $2,137.

The foreign teams as finally announced today are: France—Lathuillière, Lohrmeier and Aubert; substitutes: Simon and Barfier; England—Rudley, Graham-White and Ogilvie; substitute, McVayle.

There is much fit feeling among the aviators failing to make the team. They declare the best men were not picked.

Drexel, in his tiny Wright racer, is considered the hope of the American team. The others have made slow speed in comparison with the foreign flyers.

Hoxsey returned this afternoon after flying 20 miles from Brantwood, where he landed yesterday afternoon. It required less than an hour to negotiate the flight. He was given a rousing cheer and all the aviators present congratulated him.

With the first touch of real winter weather it was necessary to dismiss the High School classes this morning because the building was not warm enough for the pupils. While a few of the rooms were comfortable, others were so cold as to cause considerable lack of comfort. Principal Bruce U. P. Cobrough decided it best to dismiss school for the balance of the morning. The classes reported as usual again this afternoon.

The trouble was in the heating system, which has not yet been completed. While the direct heat radiators are working well, the coils and fans of the indirect system are not in operation and it is not known when they will be. Until then it may be necessary to lose more time if the mercury continues around 40 degrees.

This is the closing day of the second school month and all the teachers received their pay checks this morning.

Hallowe'en Committee to Meet.

The Hallowe'en committee will meet tonight in the room of the Chamber of Commerce to make final arrangements for the big parade on Monday evening.

Distinguished Array of Counsel and George S. Graham appeared for Philadelphia. Besides Crowd of Politicians Who Were Spectators

United Press Telegram.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—A. Van Valkenburg, editor and publisher of the Philadelphia North American, appeared before Magistrate Gallagher today to answer the charge of criminal libel growing out of the charges printed against Hon. John K. Tener, Republican nominee for Governor in the North American.

The editor was represented by former Judge James Gay Gordon while Francis Shunk Brown, A. S. L. Shipton and George S. Graham appeared for Mr. Tener. A crowd of politicians attended the hearing.

Mr. Tener took the stand and told of his connection with the Public Utilities Corporation, explaining how he became interested in the concern and outlining his entire connection with it. He was severely cross examined by Judge Gordon who made little progress with the witness.

Manager Davis Makes Announcement to Foremen—They Pass Word to Men—Also Says Old Meadow Will Reopen on November 14.

Railroad Police Murdered By Man He Was Pursuing

United Press Telegram.

WILKES-BARRE, Oct. 28.—William Wethers, a detective for the Lehigh Valley railroad, was murdered today in the innkeeper's tutor near here by an unknown man who is believed to have tampered with the signals. The slain detective, accompanied by Chief Booth, went to the mountains about 3 o'clock this morning. For several weeks past signs have been impored with there.

After arriving Wethers discovered a man running down the tracks. He ordered him to halt. The man turned around and sniped a gun at the detective. Death was instantaneous.

Manager Davis also announced that the proposed close down begins tomorrow at Old Meadow for repairs will end on November 14, and the Old Meadow will resume operations on that date. Tomorrow is pay day at the mills and everyone will be busy with buying early and the merchants anticipate a great day's business. All stores are centered on tomorrow being good weather, and if there is a bad day the celebration will be held on Monday. That is what is most favored.

The prizes that are offered are as follows:

Ten dollars in cash to the hot mill crew of nine men or more, with mascot.

Five dollars in cash for shear crew of four men or more with mascot.

Five dollars in cash for Warehouse or Machine Shop crew.

Five dollars worth of cigars for best turn out of galvanizing men.

BIG FIRE AT BOSWELL DOES MUCH DAMAGE

BOSWELL, Oct. 28.—(Special)—A fire here early this morning destroyed the Merchants' Hotel, August Brether's clothing store, a livery stable and the opera house together with about a dozen residences.

The loss is estimated at close to $100,000. The firemen were handicapped by an insufficient supply of water with which to fight the flames.

Hoxsey returned this afternoon after flying 20 miles from Brantwood, where he landed yesterday afternoon.

It required less than an hour to negotiate the flight. He was given a rousing cheer and all the aviators present congratulated him.

Two More Cases of Typhoid are Reported Today

Two new cases of typhoid fever were reported to the Health Officer this morning and the houses quarantined. James Cunningham, aged 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cunningham of Fairview avenue, was taken ill yesterday and the case was pronounced typhoid fever by the attending physician.

Roger Dixon, aged 18 and colored, is reported ill with typhoid at his home on North Prospect street.

General Superintendent of Motive Power J. D. Harris of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad arrived in Connellsburg early this morning in his special car which was attached to the passenger train. Mr. Harris is spending the day here inspecting the local shops and motive power with J. P. Carroll, Superintendent of Motive Power at Pittsburgh.

The trouble was in the heating system, which has not yet been completed. While the direct heat radiators are working well, the coils and fans of the indirect system are not in operation and it is not known when they will be. Until then it may be necessary to lose more time if the mercury continues around 40 degrees.

B. & O. OFFICIALS AT DAWSON INSPECTING SITE FOR A NEW DEPOT THERE.

Chief Engineer of Maintenance of Way Stimson Was in the Party Which Also Paid a Visit to Uniontown.

Mrs. Cochran the Donor of the Ground?

Yesterday a party of bridge and structural inspectors of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad visited Dawson and, according to reporters, inspected the site for a new depot which will be donated by Mrs. Sarah B. Cochran of that place. In charge of the party were Chief Engineer of Maintenance of Way E. Stimson of Baltimore and Engineer of Maintenance of Way E. P. Lane of Pittsburgh.

Yesterday's party is alleged to have made the remark: "There's that old shack," as he approached the apology for waiting room given Dawson patrons of the Baltimore & Ohio.

The party has been inspecting the bridges and structures of the system in this section. Superintendent C. L. French accompanied them over the Connellsburg division.

Snow is Possible. Cloudy tonight and Saturday; continued cold and possibly snow.

Connellsburg is to have a visit from the Federal mine experts who are stationed at the Pittsburg rescue station.

The rescue car is scheduled for a two days stop in Connellsburg on November 4 and 5. Friday and Saturday of next week. Prior to that the car is to make a trip up the Monongahela river. Two days will be spent at Uniontown and one, and possibly two days, at Brownsville. The visit to Connellsburg is to give the miners of the Connellsburg district an opportunity to visit the car and benefit from the talks and lectures of the experts aboard the car.

There will be free illustrated lectures on greater safety in mining, including talks on fire prevention, first aid, surgical treatment, and sanitation.

"I'm drunk?" Andy Spanish remarked in police court this morning. "Sure, you bet I was drunk."

"Five dollars or 72 hours," said the burgess.

"I don't care! I got no money anyway," was the philosophic response. Leditz held up a young lady on Pittsburg street and was collared by Volunteer Fireman Frank Hone.

It was a bad move on John's part because the officers found a pair of brass knuckles on him. He will be prosecuted for carrying concealed weapons.

"Me drunk?" Andy Spanish remarked in police court this morning. "Sure, you bet I was drunk."

"Five dollars or 72 hours," said the burgess.

"I don't care! I got no money anyway," was the philosophic response. Leditz held up a young lady on Pittsburg street and was collared by men skilled in rescue work and trained in first aid to the injured. The car is fully equipped with rescue apparatus and medical appliances.

Miners will be trained without cost in the use of the oxygen helmets and in first aid to the injured. All miners and others interested in greater safety in mining are invited to attend the demonstrations and lectures.

WHY Piles Sufferers So Often Fall To Get Relief.

Science is getting to the bottom of everything, including the cause and cure of piles. The brightest doctors now admit that piles are caused internally and can be cured only by internal treatment. Dr. J. S. Leonthardt some time ago perfected a remedy in tablet form—Item-Itold, which cures the cause of piles, and therefore cures permanently. It is sold by A. A. Clarke, Connellsville, Pa., under money-back guarantee, $1 for 31 days' treatment. Dr. Leonthardt Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

To Our Customers and the Public: It has come to our knowledge that certain persons are soliciting work for cleaning and dying in Connellsville and vicinity by representing themselves as having working for Footers, and as being familiar with Footers' methods and processes. We take this means of warning the public and our patrons that such persons are imposters and have never been employed by us in any way whatever, nor are our methods and processes known outside of our own works. Prosecution at law will follow any further knowledge of such misrepresentation by the parties in question. Footers' Die Works, Cumberland, Md. J. W. McClure, Agent, Connellsville, Pa.

DR. BOUSE'S LECTURE CLOSES THE EXHIBIT

On Tuberculosis at Y. M. C. A.—Talked to School Children Thursday.

DR. J. A. House gave another interesting talk on tuberculosis yesterday afternoon at the auditorium. The auditorium was well filled and several teachers who also heard the lecture, Dr. House gave a talk which should be of great benefit to the children. He said when they have their mouths open that their noses were well ventilated and that length on cleanliness which was so important a factor in the prevention of the dreaded disease. He said that tuberculosis was curable if properly treated but the early stages could be arrested. His talk was illustrated with stereopticon views of the Mt. Alto sanitarium and of the dispensary located in different cities and towns. After the lecture, Dr. House gave a talk which should be of great benefit to the children. DUNBAR.

DUNBAR, Oct. 27.—One of the most enjoyable social visits given here for weeks was the one made by tourists around the world given last evening under the auspices of the ladies of the First Baptist church. The automobiles left the church which was designated as the station, commencing at 7 P. M., and driving about Boston, Mass., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Rankin, where they were greeted by Uncle Sam, whose part was acted by Charles Linton, and the "Patriotic woman." The ladies were served tea, having been dressed and dressed from head to toe. The guests were invited to the automobile to Dublin, Ireland, to the home of Miss Anna Hurl in Dunbar township where the guests were greeted by the Irish maid and served in their quality. The guests were served tea with soup, sardines and pickles at this place. The only disappointment of the evening was had, the ladies of the church having intended that this stop should have been London, but owing to King George could not be procured, the place was changed to Dublin, Ireland, which proved to be just as entertaining. After sightseeing near old Dublin, the guests left Berlin, Germany, at 10 P. M. and slept at the Baker's, where they were greeted by the Dutch boys and girls and a regular old fashioned German dinner of hot Weinhause and water kraut and pretzels were served. Leaving Berlin they went to Tokyo, Japan, where was an old Japanese who had been here before they were greeted by the Mikado and host of Japanese girls, the young ladies of the church being dressed in Japanese costumes and the house being beautifully decorated in Japanese style. The refreshments consisting of tea and waters were served by the Japanese maid. After leaving Japan the travelers were glad to return to their native land, stopping at Washington, D. C., where they were greeted by President and Mrs. W. H. Taft, whose party was taken by Mr. J. T. Quirk of this place and Mr. Hutchinson of Uniontown, and the Cabinet. The return of Mr. and Mrs. Taft, Polk's returnments to their home were well received by all. The affair was one of the best given here for some time, and in spite of the inclement weather the automobiles were filled during the entire evening. The ladies were more than delighted by the outcome of the Dublin and Mrs. Roy VanSickle of Somerfield, were shopping in town Wednesday.

Health Restored, Gained 35 Pounds

When your blood is thin, your appetite poor, your energy all gone and your system generally in run-down condition, don't be discouraged. Take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It will make you well and strong, just as it did Mr. Weinstock.

"I have been using Duffy's Pure

Malt Whiskey for several years and it has improved my health very much.

I have felt fine ever since and I tell all my friends about it.

Before using this great medicine I was run down in health, had no appetite and was losing weight rapidly.

But since using it I have completely recovered

my health and have gained over 35 lbs.

Mr. M. Waxler, of 725 Mifflin St., one of the friends to whom I recommended your malt, and who was generally worn out, is as pleased with the results and benefits derived from the use of same as I am and we determine to give our testimony, hoping it will be the means of helping some poor sufferers to better health, like ourselves." E. Weinstock, No.

ADVERTISING.
THE DAILY COURIER is the only daily newspaper in the Connellsville area which has the honesty and courage to print a daily report under oath of the exact number of copies it prints for distribution. Other papers put forth some extravagant claims, but these are figures. Advertising rates

AN ORDINANCE THAT SHOULD BE PASSED.

Every citizen of every community which has a system of public sewerage should be compelled to connect his premises therewith. It is not merely a matter of his personal convenience, and consequently a matter of his personal choice; it is a matter of vital moment, not only to himself and his family, but also to the whole community; and it is, therefore, a proper matter for regulation by the borough or city authorities under the police power granted by the Constitution.

The Connellsville Council has under consideration an ordinance requiring citizens to tap borough sewers when they are within reasonable access thereto. The ordinance should be passed. Objection has been made that the cost of tapping public seweraries widely in different portions of the town. In old Connellsville the cost of the sewers was paid by a bond issue and the bonds are being liquidated by general taxation. Beyond a nominal charge for tapping them, there is consequently no cost to the citizens for using them. In old New Haven, now the West Side, citizens who want to tap the public sewers are charged a foot-front assessment, there being no sewer tax. These conflicting conditions caused the Council to hold the ordinance over for further consideration.

We report, however, that this ordinance should be passed, even though it may bear heavily upon some West Side citizens who have been willing to jeopardize the health and the lives of themselves and their families rather than incur the cost of sanitary conditions within their households.

Finally the better plan would be to levy a sewer tax on the West Side to liquidate the newer bonds; and, either relatives or out of its first proceeds those who have paid sewage assessments or credit them from year to year on their sewer taxes.

In the meantime, however, disease-breeding cess pools should be abolished in Connellsville.

THE COMING OF THE MINE RESCUE CAR.

A series of disastrous mine explosions
during several years past aroused the attention of Congress and resulted in the passing of the bill creating the Federal Bureau of Mines, whose special mission it is to cooperate with the State officials and the operators in the scheme of safe mining and the promotion of greater efficiency in mine rescue work.

The Bureau of Mines had made much progress in its work and is now industrially engaged in disseminating useful information. For the purpose of teaching the best methods of mine rescue work the Bureau has equipped a mine rescue car and is sending it through the mining regions together with a competent force of demonstrators and lecturers. This car will be in the Connellsville coke region next week and every operator and his proper employer should take the time to visit the car and receive instructions and instructions. They will prove of undoubted great value.

The mine rescue car is not only a school of instruction, but it is also designed as a hurry-up vehicle of help in case of mining accidents. Upon notice of a disaster, it will be immediately dispatched to the scene, accompanied by a skilled corps of rescuers equipped with rescue apparatus and surgical appliances.

The mine rescue car and those in charge should be met in the same spirit which animates their coming.

COAL FAMINES AND FREIGHT DISCRIMINATIONS.

The announcement that Chicago faces a fuel famine because of a short car supply and the idleness of the Indiana mines is rather surprising.

There are other mines in West Virginia and Pennsylvania whose output is not all sold ahead, and a part at least of whose output is available.
There should be no coal famine in Chicago, or anywhere else, in the face of the country's immense con-re-

CAMPAIGN TIMES IN CUBA.
An election takes place in Cuba on Nov. 1st. The campaign has been a very warm one.—Now's item.

SOURCES.
It is true, no doubt, that the freight on Indiana coal is less than that on Pennsylvania and West Virginia coal, but the coals from the latter fields are of superior excellence and greater value than those of Indiana; and they are more cheaply, because of the great thickness of the veins and the better mining conditions generally.

It is charged, and it has not been succinctly denied or explained, that much discrimination is practiced in coal freight rates. It is so. It is high time our coal operators were more active steps looking toward their protection. The process is no longer complicated and all but impossible. It is simple and effective. It consists merely in an appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Pennsylvania coal operators should cease twirling their thumbs and growing impatient and get busy on the job of working out their emancipation.

WESTERN MARYLAND COAL DEVELOPMENTS.

The announcement that the Western Maryland will develop some valuable coal territory between Connellsville and Confluence, on the left bank of the Youghiogheny, is true in a limited sense. There are some valuable veins outcropping on the river, but they are neither so extensive nor so valuable as others which the new railroad can and will probably develop.

The Western Maryland will, for example, be in position to develop the Wharton township coal field, and some coal territory south of it, all of which coal lands are said to be good looking propositions.

The Wharton field has been pretty well bought up in spite of the fact that it is utterly without railroad facilties. This fact alone argues confidence in its coal. A poor quality of coal would have remained in the hands of the original owners.

That the Western Maryland will build a branch into the Wharton field as soon as there seems to be a demand for its development does not admit of argument. The Western Maryland is out for business. It is within easy distance of the Wharton field, which when opened up will furnish a coal and coke tonnage immediately large and lasting.

It may well, however, for speculators to remember that the White River coal will not be opened up on their demand, nor perhaps immediately on any demand save that of actual operation on an extensive scale.
The modern railroad management is alive to business, but it demands that the business be actual and not propective, and that it be reasonably important in volume and permanent in character.

LABOR CAN VOTE WITHOUT STRIKING.

There have been a great many unwise strikes, but perhaps none quite so foolish as that proposed by the State Federation of Labor, whose officials have ordered a strike on election day coupled with an earnest injunction that every union laborer go to the olls and vote.

The Waynesburg Times makes a timely plea for support for the reorganized fair association, and the hand of the late Jim Justice's high and white and fuzzy lot of tucker memory and fair association, be outdone in public spirit by suburban communities like Carmichaels and Sandy Plains.
Perhaps the thought:

The Monessen Independent gives notice of external war against the houses of that sporty community. It declares that the policemen and constables will not do their duty, and suggests that detectives be employed out of police funds to be raised for the purpose.

Monessen's complaint seems to be common to most communities, and the natural inquiry suggests itself, Who are the authorities or towns permit gambling houses to flourish? The answer is not immediately to the integrity of officials.

There is no disposition within our knowledge to keep the laboring man from the polls. His vote is welcome, especially in industrial communities,
where he is in common with all others is vitally interested in that Republican principle of Protection which more than any other influence keeps the wheels going; a sound, keeps labor employed at good wages and insures prosperity to every member of such community. Particularly does this rule and condition apply to the Connellsville coke region.

Don't strike on election day, but day or as long as is necessary to, vote and work for the success of Republican principles. A vote for the Republican ticket is a vote for Coke Smolc and Common Prosperity.

The promoters of a safe and sano
and happy Holloween in Connellsville offer prizes for the most successful parties in the parade. The Mardi Gras Holloween will soon be so firmly established that nothing can change it.

Erection of Big Tabernacle at Scottdale About Complete.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Oct. 28.—In spite of bad weather the workmen have toiled away in the remodeling of the tabernacle in which Davis and Mills, the evangelists, expect to conclude their work in Scottdale, with such good effect that if today and Saturday are propitious Sunday afternoon may possibly see the opening of the big auditorium. There is no certainty of this, but every effort is being made to accomplish this. The wind that caused the removal of the canvas from the structure last Friday evening showed that the building was constructed too high. Chief Engineer F. A. Fields of the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Company, very kindly lent his expert knowledge to the subject of the framework of pipe, and figured its strength so that a strong, compact and much lower building will be the result. The heating boiler has been pulled up beside the tabernacle and the steam pipes for heating the place will soon be connected up. The West Penn Electric Company have their wires and lights in. On every hand the project is being helped along, and the people are reaping the natural admiration that is due to anyone who fights gamely against difficulties. Meanwhile there is no lack of interest in the meetings, but they are becoming of more effect each evening. Something entirely new is promised for this evening by the evangelist.

Old Meadow Repairs.

Owing to a cracked plate on the engine of the Old Meadow mill the plant will be closed down tomorrow for repairs. Just how long this will continue is not known as an endeavor will be made to repair everything now before the winter sets in. During August the mill was closed down for four weeks, but this season of repairs was cut short by necessary resumption when only two of the four weeks had elapsed. Thus not all the repairs then needed were made, but the present condition of the engine will see that part at least accomplished this time.

Shoemaker in Town.

M. P. Shoemaker of Greensburg, candidate on the Democratic-Kyoto ticket for Assembly was in town yesterday. Mr. Shoemaker is President of the Westmoreland County Fair Association and a leading figure in the farmers work in this county. He spent a good deal of his time in boosting the coming four days' Movable School of Agriculture which comes to town in the early part of January. Scottdale is the only town in other Westmoreland or Fayette county that gets this State school, as it is the only one where the farmers have evinced sufficient interest in the Farmers In-

SPRUCE HOLLOW.

SPRUCE HOLLOW, Oct. 27.—There was a social gathering at the home of Mrs. Mary Hatfield on Wednesday, helping make up the party. The participants were Mr. and Mrs. George Whipple, Mrs. Emma Erdahl, Miss Zettie Whipple, John and Smith Hatfield and Emerson Whipple.

Mrs. Allen Swink and daughter, Miss Lucy, were in Connellsville Wednesday shopping.

Miss Ruth Whipple was a visitor in Scottdale Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Vesta Wilson returned home from the Elsie Private hospital where she had been employed for past two weeks.

Miss Mary Swink returned home on Tuesday from Braddock, where she had been visiting her sister, Mrs. William Gray.

Miss Ruth Greene called on Misses Lucy and Mary Swink on Wednesday afternoon.

Revival services have been started at the Moore Memorial church near Murphy's Station. The pastor is Rev. Rev. W. C. Klemm, who has been serving.

A number of our young people are going to Scottdale and Connellsville to take part in the Hallowe'en parade.

Mrs. Lloyd Ritchie called on Miss Lucy Sunday evening.

Miss Mary Coffey called on Mrs. Allen Swink Monday.

Lloyd Ritchie has been employed at the Royal Biscuit plant, where he is doing painting.

BERLIN.

BIRKIN, Oct. 27.—An accident occurred on First main street shortly after 3 o'clock last evening in which Clinton Christian, a young man of town, had his collar bone broken and one arm badly bruised.

Mr. Christian was riding in a buggy with his mother and his brother Ralph, was driving out the street in the opposite direction, both horses running at a slow gait and on account of the darkness neither driver being aware of the other. As they neared each other they came together. Eagle and Christian were both thrown forward over the dashboard to the ground, the driver of the other team was not thrown out, but the vehicle was badly wrecked. The injured man was at once taken to the office of Dr. J. R. Kline, where his wounds were dressed and he was conveyed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Christian on Spring avenue.

DICKERSON RUN.

DICKERSON RUN, Oct. 27.—J. K. Evans of Glassport, was transacting business here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ginnar, who have been visiting friends here for the past few weeks, have returned to their home in Franklin township.

Joe Snyder was a business caller at Pittsburg yesterday.

Mrs. W. H. Kehler, who was operated on at the Cottage State hospital just effort to secure the school. The number of places that get the incentive this year in Westmoreland county is also less than before, as many of the farmers have preferred to stay at home than leave anything now.

Go to Connellsville.

The contract for building the 15 classrooms of red, white and blue lights at intervals across the principal streets to light them up for the Hallowe'en celebration was let by the Announcement Committee last evening to the Interstate Electric Company of Connellsville, who were to start work today. The poles made by them were considerably lower than those noted by the Mt. Pleasant people who were bidding on the job and the Connellsville firm will have the illuminating part of the event. The West Penn Electric Company is furnishing the current free to the town for these lights, which promises to eclipse anything in the way of electrical effect ever seen here. All that is necessary for a successful celebration is a pretty streak of weather tomorrow. With the crowd is assured. The weather last night was far from encouraging for it was mixed rain and sleet, that sounded like Old Winter was casting his coat over town.

Squirtin' Cricks.

The squirming bricks are once more on the job after a volcanic absence that was one of the compensations of a long dry spell. The rains of the last few days made several pavements on some much traveled streets grow active in the ruination of clothing and tempers, and pedestrians were greeted with streams of mud squirted over their clothing when they ventured forth last evening. The squirting bricks of Scottdale are neither picturesque nor pleasant.

The Citizens Meeting.

These cool days and dreary drizzles have caused the contention between the citizens and the Fayette County Gas Company to again obtrude itself upon the minds of the people. The raising of the price of gas from 25 cents per thousand feet and the threat that if the Borough and School Board does not withdraw their authority to compel the company to charge only the old rate and continue to furnish the school buildings with free gas that the gas company will throttle the supply of gas clear off from Scottdale on December 1st has caused some interest. Apparently the Committee of Fifty has done nothing so far, and so Chairman M. L. Haslehurst has called the Committee and the citizens to meet on Monday night at the Borough building a 8 o'clock to go over the matter, and decided what further to do.

Walter Jones was visiting friends at Newell yesterday.
Engineer E. C. Budd was a business man at Untown yesterday.

Steve Stephen Dennis Dead at Perry's Ferry Yesterday.

Stricken with apoplexy while at work in the brick yard of the Perry Manufacturing Company near the Pittsburgh & Lake railroad, Steve Stephen died at 45 minutes past 12 o'clock. His body was removed to Ira Miller's morgue at Perry's Mills and Coroner Harry J. Bell testified. There will be no inquest.

Each had mentioned that he was failing rapidly, still for a week previous to his death. He was walking bricks toward the kiln when he stopped suddenly and fell to the floor dead. Dr. R. P. Kumerer, who was summoned, pronounced the cause of death as cerebral hemorrhage.

German May had been at Perry about six months. The funeral services will be held tomorrow. Interment in the Catholic cemetery at Perry's Mills.

Miss Mary Swink returned home on Tuesday from Braddock, where she had been visiting her sister, Mrs. William Gray.

Miss Ruth Greene called on Misses Lucy and Mary Swink on Wednesday afternoon.

Men Old at 35.

One Million Baldheads Who Thought Dandruff Wasn't Dangerous.

In the United States and Canada today there are nearly a million men who at 35 can be put in the baldhead class.

When these men had thick vigorous hair, dandruff made it appear thin.

That was the time to attack the enemy of mankind—the persistent little devil called a dandruff microbe, or germ that burrows deep down into the hair root and seizes it of the vitality that is so essential to the hair. Young men or any man, for that matter, beware of the dandruff germ; it is not a theory, but an actual condition that confronts you. That dandruff is caused by a germ, is proven beyond question. That this germ destroys the hair root is today a major of common knowledge.

A. A. Clark, the druggist, has the remedy that kills the dandruff germs. He guarantees it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back. It is called PARISIAN SAGE, and can be obtained at druggists in every town in America—ask A. A. Clarke for it.

The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle of Parisian Sage.

When a Man Marries

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
*Author of "The Circular Staircase,"
"The Mirror-Lover,"
"Ten, Etc."*

Dear Father, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

While Betty was fussing with Aunt Selina, Max had a search of the house. He said the necklace and the bracelet must be hidden somewhere, and that no crevice was too small to neglect. We made a formal search all together, except Betty and Aunt Selina, and we found a lot of things in different places that Jim had been missing since the year one. But no jewels—nothing even suggesting a jewel was found. We had explored the entire house, every cupboard, every chest, even the insides of the couches and the pockets of Jim's clothes—which he resented bitterly—and found nothing. And I must say the situation was growing rather strained. Some one had taken the jewels; they hadn't walked away.

It was Flannigan who suggested the roof, and as we had tried every place else, we climbed there. Of course we didn't find anything, but after all day in the house with the shutters closed on account of reporters, the air was glorious. It was February, but quite mild and sunny, and we could look down over Riverside Drive and the Hudson, and even recognize people we knew on horseback and in cars. It was a pathetic joy, and we lined up along the parapet and watched the motor-boats racing on the river, and tried to feel that we were in the world as well as it, but it was very hard.

Betty had been making tea for Aunt Selina, and of course when she heard us up there, she followed, tray and all, and we drank Aunt Selina's tea and had the first really nice time of the day. Bella had come up, too, but she was still standoffish and queer, and she stood leaning against a chimney and staring out over the river. After a little Mr. Harbison put down his cup and went over to her, and they talked quite confidentially for a long time, I thought it bad taste in Bella, under the circumstances, after snubbing Dallas and Max, and of course treating Jim like the dirt under her feet, to turn right around and be lovely to Mr. Harbison. It was hard for Jim.

Max came and sat beside me, and Flannigan, who had been sent down for more cups, passed tea, putting the tray on top of the chimney. Jim was sitting grumpily on the roof, with his feet folded under him, playing Castlefield in the shadow of the parapet, buying the deck out of one pocket and putting his wings in the other. He was watching Bella, too, and she knew it, and she strained a point to captivate Mr. Harbison. Any one could see that.

And that was the picture that came out in the next morning's paper, tea-cups, cards and all. For when some one looked up, there were four newspaper photographers on the roof of the next house, and they had the importance to thank us!

Flannigan had seen Bella by that time, but as he still didn't understand the situation, things were just the

This Advertisement Presents a Genuine Opportunity to Share in the Earnings of a Highly Profitable Mercantile Business of National Magnitude

It tells how you can become a partner in one of the cleanest, soundest and greatest money-making enterprises the world has ever known.

A little over a year ago, the 5 and 10c wall paper idea was originated by Mr. Frank Hall and the Peerless 5 and 10c Wall Paper Company was founded.

Now whenever and wherever wall paper is discussed, you hear the Peerless 5 and 10c Store linked with the best.

The business started in a little store room at 615 Penn Avenue, and the story of its development--especially the Aladdin-like progress of the past twelve months--reads like a romance.

To-day we have the largest and most profitable retail wall paper business in the world.

And we have only commenced to grow.

There is a demand in all large cities for 5 and 10c wall paper stores. We propose to build up a chain of stores to meet and take advantage of this demand.

The business as conducted to-day, is highly profitable. We propose to double the profits and increase the quality of our goods by establishing our own factories and making our own wall papers.

The Peerless 5 and 10c Wall Paper Co. is being regularly incorporated with a capitalization of $500,000. The par value of the shares is $1.00, full paid and forever non-assessable.

A portion of the stock is now offered for general subscription in order to provide capital for opening additional stores and for the immediate acquisition of a modern ten-machine factory.

We are planning now to open up nine retail stores in as many large cities. It is our purpose to open up others just as rapidly as conditions will permit. However, new stores will be added only as necessary capital is available in advance and as the most desirable sites in the various cities can be secured.

Our policy is at all times aggressive, but we believe in doing things right—selecting our sites with greatest care and operating in such manner that the greatest possible returns be secured.

As is always the case when a new and more economical method of merchandising is introduced we have somewhat disrupted the old-time wall paper business.

Dealers have combined to try to shut off our supply of desirable papers. They have thrown hindrances of various kinds in our way. But we have brushed them all aside. We have taken all the hurdles as they came and surmounted every difficulty.

We can now see a great advantage in owning and operating our own wall paper plants—and a great saving.

It will enable us to bring out new patterns and to control the sale of them.

It will enable us to produce better papers for the price, 5 and 10c, than could otherwise be done, because of the greater economy of operation and the elimination of the factory selling organization.

All the wall papers we can make can be sold in our own stores.

Factory sample books and salesmen will be unnecessary.

The matter of sample books alone costs some factories as high as $100,000 a year.

Owning our own factories will make us independent of all other factories and virtually give us control of the popular priced wall paper business of the United States.

There is a demand for all the stores we can open up. Five stores will sell all the wall paper one ten-machine factory can turn out.

For every five stores, therefore, we can add one factory and take care of its entire output.

We offer stock for sale simply to increase our business, to add new stores and factories. There is no risk—that stage was passed long ago.

Our business is increasing every month, and our profits along with it.

Ours is not an unknown nor an untried enterprise.

We offer nothing intangible or imaginary.

We will show you the profits of the retail 5 and 10c wall paper business.

The Peerless 5 & 10c Wall Paper Co.

632 and 634 Liberty Avenue

THE LARGEST WALL PAPER STORE IN THE WORLD

Our present building—the largest Retail Wall Paper Store in the World.

We will prove to you that we now have the largest retail wall paper business in the world. We will show you the greater profits to be made by manufacturing our own papers.

We will refer you to commercial agencies, bankers, newspaper publishers and other business men of high standing who will tell you of the success we are making.

What we want from you now is your subscription for 10, 100, 500 or 1,000 shares of our stock at par, $1 a share.

We offer you part ownership in a business of known value. We offer you safety of principal and unusually large permanent profits.

An ideal investment in every way—Isn't that just what you are looking for?

Think it over. The stock is a bargain at par, $1 a share; at $10 a share it would still be a bargain.

Strong talk this may seem to you, but think it over.

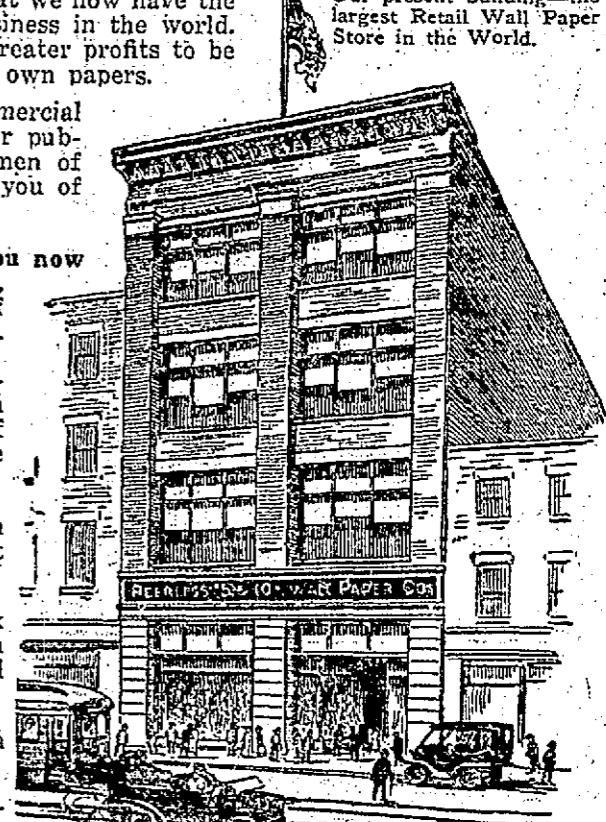

Ponder over it. Study it. The possibilities are tremendous. If you let this opportunity slip by, some day in the very near future you will regret it. Act now—send us your subscription and your check for as many shares as you can conveniently carry. In any event write for the booklet, "A Profitable Business," or call at our store and let us tell you more of this interesting opportunity. Any questions you may care to ask will be answered promptly.

same. But his manner to me puzzled me; whenever he came near me he winked prodigiously, and during all the search he kept one eye on me, and seemed to be amused about something.

When the rest had gone down, to dress for dinner, which was being sent in, thank goodness, I still sat on the parapet and watched the darkening river. I felt terribly lonely, all at once, and and. There wasn't any one "au pair" than father, in the West, or mother, in Bermuda, who really cared a rap whether I sat on that parapet all night or not, or who would be sorry if I leaped to the dirty bricks of the next doorway—not that I meant to, of course.

The lights came out across the river, and made purple and yellow streaks on the water, and one of the motor-boats came panting back to the yacht club, coughing and gasping as if it had overdone. Down on the street automobiles were starting and stopping, cars rolling, doors slamming, all the maddening, delightful bustle of people who are foot-sore to dance out, to dance, to go to the theater, to do any of the thousand possibilities of a long February evening. And above them I sat on the roof and cried. Yes, cried.

I was roused by some one coughing just behind me, and I tried to straighten my face great relief. It was Flannigan, his double row of brass buttons gleaming in the twilight.

"Excuse me, miss," he said affably, "but the boy from the hotel has left the dinner on the doortop and run, the cowardly little devil! What'll I do with it? I went to Mrs. Wilson, but she says it's no concern of hers." Flannigan was evidently bewildered.

"You'd better keep it warm, Flannigan," I replied. "You needn't wait; I'm coming." But he did not go.

"If—if you'll excuse me, miss," he said, "don't you think you'd better tell them what?"

"The whole thing—the joke," he said confidently, coming closer. "It's been great sport, now, hasn't it? But I'm afraid they will get on to it soon, and—some of them might not be agreeable. A pearl necklace is a pearl necklace, miss, and the lady's wild."

"What do you mean?" I gasped.

"You don't think why, Flannigan?"

"You're more inclined to me and thus his hand down in his pocket. When he brought it up he hid Bella's bracelet on his palm, glittering in the faint light.

"Where did you get it?" Between relief and the absurdity of the thing, I was almost hysterical. But Flannigan did not give me the bracelet; instead, it struck me his tone was suddenly sober.

"Now look here, miss," he said; "you've played your trick, and you've had your fun. The Lord knows it's only folks like you would play April fool jokes with a fortune! If you're the sensible little woman you look to be, you'll put that pearl collar on the coal in the basement tonight, and let me find it."

"I haven't got the pearl collar," I protested. "I think you are crazy. Where did you get that bracelet?"

He edged away from me, as if he expected me to snitch it from him and run, but he was still trying in an eloquent way to treat the matter as a joke.

"I found it in a drawer in the partry," he said, "among the dirty linens.

And if you're as smart as I think you are, I'll find the pearl collar there in the morning—and nothing said, miss."

So there I was, suspected of being

CHAPTER X.

On the Stairs.

I was roused by some one walking across the roof, the crackling of an under foot, and a comfortable and companionable odor of tobacco. I moved a very little, and then I saw that it was a man—the height and breadthness told me which man. And just at that instant he saw me.

"Good Lord!" he ejaculated, and throwing his cigar away he came across quickly. "Why, Mrs. Wilson, what in the world are you doing here? I thought—they said—"

"That I was sulking again?" I flushed disgracefully. "Perhaps I am, in fact, I'm quite sure of it."

"You are not," he said severely. "You have been asleep in a February night, in the open air, with less clothing on than I wear in the tropics."

I had got up by this time, refusing his help, and because my feet were numb, I sat down on the parapet for a moment. Oh, I knew what I looked like—out of these "Valley-of-the-Nile-After-Flood" pictures.

"What is it you would like to say?" I called over to him. He did not speak. "Would you tell me that I am a silly child for pouting?" No reply; he struck a match. "Or would you preach a nice little sermon about people—about women—loving their husbands?"

He grunted savagely under his breath.

"Be quite honest," I pursued relentlessly. "Say that we are a lot of barbarians, say that because my—he—because Jimmy treats me outrageously—oh, he does; any one can see that—and because I loathe him—and any one can tell that—why don't you say you are shocked to the depths? I was a little shocked myself by that time, but I couldn't stop, having started."

He came over to me, white-faced and towering, and he had the audacity to grip my arm and stand me on my feet, like a bad child—which I was, I dare say.

"Don't!" he said in a husky, very pained voice. "You are only talking. You don't mean it. It isn't you. You know you care, or else why are you crying up here? And don't do it again, don't do it again—or I will."

"You will—what?"

TOWN COUNCIL CLEAR'S OLD BILL.

Got Gamewell Fire Alarm Debt Off Hands for a Year.

SEWER QUESTION GOES OVER

Borough Matters Disposed of at the 6pm Monthly Regular Meeting Held Last Evening—Two New Sewer Extensions.

Town Council held its semi-monthly regular meeting last night. The sewer question which was to have been taken up was postponed until the next meeting with the exception of action on two extensions which were provided for. The bill of the Gamewell Fire Alarm Company was squared up. The total amount, with interest, was $6,125.42. Under the arrangement made by Chairman W. H. Thomas of the Finance Committee, the First National Bank of Berlin takes $4,000 of this for a year, the Young National $2,900, while the Borough issued a warrant for the balance, $125.42.

Mr. Thomas explained that the Gamewell people had agreed to reduce the interest from 6 to 1 per cent, on condition the account was taken care of this year. The difference between the 6 per cent and the 4 per cent, saved the borough $150.

Councilman P. M. Buttermore of the West Side was the only one to dissent from this arrangement. Mr. Buttermore objected on the grounds that by it the old borough of New Haven was helping to pay one of the old debts of the old Borough of Connellsville. He went on record as being opposed to the proposition, as each vote was taken on the issuance of the certificates and warrant.

The clerk was directed to advertise for bids for the Apple street paving, and the contract will be let at the next meeting. Council also authorized the purchase of a carload of brick for street repairing.

Under Public Safety, Chairman C. M. Stoner complained that the County Commissioners did not repair the bridge across the Yough as a safe manner and that the sidewalk on it is as dangerous as ever. Stoner said there is nothing but some badly worn steel iron under the broken slabs, which are liable to give way at any time.

Chairman Hezel of the Sewer Committee, Councilman Thomas and others were of opinion that it would be best to lay a 10-inch sewer in North Fourth street, the fall 261 feet and intersect with the Main street sewer, instead of extending it merely to the property line of William Britt and have a stub end. Councilman McCormick didn't approve of tapping the main sewer. It was finally carried to extend the lower in Fourth street to Main. Another sewer to go down will be a 15-inch in 195 feet long, out South Sixth street to the new meat market factory. Contractor C. J. Slichta offered to pay 50 cents per foot on the cost of this sewer. He had intended running a small line down the street but took the matter up with Council and it was decided to extend the lower sewer that distance, accepting Mr. Slichta's proposition. The clerk was directed to advertise for bids on both of these newer contracts.

Councilman B. L. Borg brought up the question of cesspools and an ordinance requiring all persons to tap the borough sewers when they are within one to one. Borough Solicitor F. Kirk Reiner was not certain as to the law in this matter, particularly since on the West Side they pay a per foot rent exemption when a sewer is tapped and on this side pay a sewer tax. About this time Councilman Britt switched the argument to W. T. Muir's chicken coop he wishes to build. Clerk Hezel read the fire limit ordinance in which he claims there was a conflict, in that an intersection line overlapped. In other words, the territory 100 feet north of North alley is in the fire limit. Likewise, in another section, only 75 feet back from the property line along North Pittsburg street from North alley out, included. Under one section, Mr. Muir's property is in the fire limit, but not under the other. Borough Solicitor Reiner did not agree with Clerk Hezel's contention that the second section superseded the first. He said if that were the case, none of the territory in the first section would be included. President Millard asked if the property owners in the neighborhood complained because the coop was in the fire limit, or just because it was a chicken coop. Chairman Britt said the kicks he heard were about the fire limit. Here Councilman McCormick called attention to the fact that S. M. Goodman had built a two story frame building in the rear of the main street building he is remodeling.

Here Councilman Borg threw the switch and brought Council back on the sewer matter. Councilman Thomas argued that the people can be compelled to tap sewers. Reiner wasn't so sure about it. After a few hot shots were fired at the Health Officer and the Board of Health for not paying proper attention to nuisances, President Millard decided there had been enough conversation. He called the roll of remaining committee and then asked an adjournment. It carried.

Fine Practice by High Team for Saturday

One of the hardest practices of the season was held by the High School boys at night. It was the first time the squad has had an opportunity of practicing on a muddy field and a long drill was held and before a half was called the almighty ball was being handled with much precision.

Special attention was given to the weaknesses apparent in the last game and every effort has been made to correct them.

Now Kensington is coming here Saturday evening along with a strong team of veterans and expect to add another to their list before they leave here. The pupils of the High School have been practicing special cheers this week and will make things lively Saturday.

Another game has been added to High's schedule, arrangements having been completed for a game with Kittatinny at Saltsburg Nov. 12th. While no official announcement has been made of the line up for tomorrow's game, the teams will likely line up as follows: Connellsville, Connellsville, B. L. ... McDaniel, R. Hammond, L. H. ... Bryan, G. Sibley, L. G. ... Herd, R. Prantl ... C. ... Stafford, V. Hill ... H. G. ... Lynn, H. E. Gossall ... R. P. ... McCombie, H. Sweet ... Q. ... Moyer, H. Stithen ... L. H. ... Munk, M. Prantl ... R. H. ... Ward, B. McGinnis ... P. G. ... Scott, Mrs. M. Wolf, G. McAllister, W. Muirfield, G. Glock, H. Hanna, P. Suyko, N. Marshall.

The Famous Rayo

The Lamp with Diffused Light

should always be used where several people sit, because it does not strain the eyes of those sitting far from it.

The Rayo is constructed to give the maximum diffused white light. Every detail that increases its light-giving value has been included.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp. You may pay $5, $10 or even $20 for other lamps and get a more expensive container—but you cannot get a better light than the Rayo gives.

This season's Rayo has a new and strengthened burner. A strong, durable shade-holder keeps the shade on firm and true. Easy to keep polished, as it is made of solid brass, finished in nickel.
